UGANDA ORPHANS

BEGA kwa BEGA

Shoulder to Shoulder

My name is Hannah; I am a 21 year old student nurse training at St Thomas' Hospital with King's College University in London. One of my main interests is tropical nursing, I have been invited to Uganda by the charity, Bega Kwa Bega to see their community health bus in action. I have been involved with Bega Kwa Bega in my local community of Wendover for a number of years.

On the 29th May I am cycling around 40 miles along the Grand Union Canal to St Thomas' Hospital to raise funds for my travel. Please sponsor me if you can on the form below.

"Villagers face health concerns that diminish their ability to improve their lives. HIV/AIDS, malaria, childhood illnesses such as measles, tetanus, parasitic diseases and malnutrition devastate communities. HIV/AIDS in particular has caused immeasurable damage. Large numbers of HIV-related illnesses and deaths from AIDS have a particular impact on education and agriculture, overburdening community resources.

In order to confront these health issues Bega kwa Bega runs a mobile clinic which visits remote villages taking health professionals to the communities."
